

Run Number: 206 7 Oct 2023

Hair: Energizer (assisted by GreenFinger)

Weather: Splendid

Afters: It all went very well

Score: 6 or so I think although Gerbils wasn't sure.

The whole thing was a minor miracle. Frastart, the nominal fairy live hair, Energizer, departed a few minutes before the pack carrying only a small piece of chalk and a champagne flute. (Full) Somehow, she managed to set a run that musta contained about 3kg of flour, piled generously every few metres until the high water mark near the end. And at the drink stop she looked as refreshed as if she had only walked about 150m to get there. I dunno how she dunnit. Maybe it was the small bucket of pink gin.

But I digress.

As the RA Infallible, pointed out yet again he had managed to create some good weather, thus preserving a near unblemished record of several in a row.

The 29 (not a misprint) assorted fairy-clad pack could only agree. Another miracle. They flew in from all over.

GreenFinger apparently had some celestial communication with Energizer and gave some minor guidance to the pack about potential distance, early directions, possible hazards and the existence of a drink stop. (And this was before Winnie had even wandered to it.) As befits a bunch of fairies, the start was at the bottom of the garden and out through the gate. (Geddit?)

Gerbils quickly hit the front, a position he retained for most of the trail. A resplendent Two Fathers kept him in sight for a while. So did Too Keen, Likealotta and Just Richard as the trail set out along a girt bit then quick lurch up onto the Barbara Cres streetscape. The remainder of the pack spread out in the usual meandering fashion, led vigorously by the recently reunited Sniffer Dog and DUI from where the pack explored hitherto unrun nooks and crannies of Denhams Beach, much to the amusement or incredulity of some of the residents.

Somehow, GreenFinger kept reappearing at spots ahead of the pack which was beginning to spread out as locals requested pauses for photo opps to show their grandkids or something. The trail and the pack meandered into the dry side of Beach Road, skirted Brother Mary's place and then wandered up through the scrub to the developing macmansions of Sunshine Bay (Heights) before descending through the scrubby bits of Surf Beach, popping across an enchanted bridge across the mozzie infested Newth Crick and popping out onto the crystalline sands of Wimbie Beach from where it was a girt bit plod and following some mysterious tracks

That led fortuitously and about farkn time to the drink stop in a fairy dell overlooking the ocean and where, by some mysterious alchemy the Gin Sluts, Dame, the other black fairy Doggy Bag and others were already waiting with the drinks and fairy bread.

Everyone cheered or waved or drank pink gin.

Some people looked pleased that they had got away with it again (and found the drink stop early).

From there it was a mere gambol back to the start/finish and a chaotic circle.

Some notes:

- Pugwash and Sticky were there and led a rousing rendition of the anthem.
- Sniffer Dog and DUI were variously charged with sex in the circle, sex instead of lunch, and other stuff.
- Dame and Horrie were fairly quiet.
- Double Fister wasn't (and had the hide to identify as a Collingwood supporter as well as tooth fairy).
- Winnie did not look at all discombobulated by a charge of mental cruelty to Carlton and Lions supporters.
- CountHerFeet was quite happy to be charged with Fiji winning a rugby match against the Wobbles. (Of which we will never speak again.)
- After an interminable debate, the previously identified Just Richard was named and shall be forever known as Biggus Dickus.
- Then it was mash time. And other stuff I missed 'cause I went home early (and sober)
