The Egalitarian Hash

Where sobriety in moderation is tolerated

Trash Volume: loud ish

Run Number: 236 Apr 2026

Hair: Haemorrhoid (assisted by Too Keen)

Where: First St South Durras

Weather: a bit on the cool side

Afters: First Street, as usual BYO bbq

Score: 20

Now here's the thing you would not find out from the normal flake news sites that the MBH3 has had the 20 most fantastic 20 years of hashing since the creation of hashing. Nice people. They run everywhere and probably in more places than anyone in Hashdom. Good group one of the best. Some of them walk now.

Haemorrhoid and Too Keen provided the venue. Great place in Durras looking good with new curtains. He's one of the good blokes strong supporter of the car industry especially keeping Cadillac going and knows a lot about fires. Important in these days of uncertainty and evil people. Did I mention it was the 250th anniversary of the Masterbaters? Too Keen produced gin slushies too bad the Sluts weren't there. So the alcohol was removed. Haemorrhoid and Too Keen's birthdays too. Special people.

Just Sophie was there for the third time. Nice young girl good runner and loves chocolate easter eggs. She's the grand daughter of Infallible fantastic bloke who has total control of the weather. Sometimes it gets cool this was one of those days. Easter can be like that with weather hanging around it can tough on golf.

Captain Pugwash and Sticky Date sailed in they were inventors of MasterBatman Hash same as Gobbles and CountHerFeet all those years ago. She does the accounts honest as the day is long makes sure to make the hash rich again. The weird names are from history not flake news. That's what they tell me.

The pack was given instructions about where to go in accordance with the top strategic plan and objectives. Just Sophie headed out like a 10-year-old and soon started siphoning up the trail which was Easter eggs she was like she was the Easter Bunny in reverse which might have to be her name one day or a couple of months or next time she runs or sooner, We'll see. She's done three.

Fishfinger fleet footedly pursued her onto the beach and turned south towards the end of the Sydney granite belt from 520 million years ago as I know being one of the world's great geologists of Australia's history. Its old.

Lady Too Keen also a noted front runner and Wordle champion almost matches me coddled the pack down the beach after the leaders.

Then Fishfinger found the trail out of the beach.

That's him on the right. Good bloke and very smart on trail finding. Knows about pharmaceuticals too nearly as much as Bobby.

There's a bit of scrub once you leave the beach. Very Australian trees that have been around since Joseph Banks planted them. Some even older and homes to weird birds like kookaburras but not emus. Too Keen had to guide them as the chocolate egg supply was diminished hardly any for the chocoholic Gobbles and CountHerFeet did you see Gobbles in his new tshirt a great design from Captain Pugwash a creative genius he remembers all I taught him no wonder this is one of THE BEST DRESSED hashes on the planet.

It was then a leisurely stroll thought the ancient timber with Sticky Date, Crème Brulee and Little Wee chatting along in the vicinity of Barbie Tools and the neighbourly One More and One Less who, along with Flop, had to maintain visual contact with the pack in the absence of trail now being scoffed by the aforementioned chocolaholics. They solved a few problems on the way and how to Make Eurobodalla Great Again. Good team could use them here to replace some of the dunces and translate those funny Australian place names.

Infallible meanwhile was in mid pack doing his best to ward off Pluvius he does it better than anyone else except possibly me or God as the pack looped back to emerge onto Ken Behren Ave and hoofing back to base, where Captain Pugwash was waiting wistfully. Seems like there was no drink stop for him to guard I dunno what happened there it must have been one of those hopeless hairs they don't know much about executing plans I might have to sack them

You know the pack did 7426 steps and 5.35km and fought off a few million leeches so you might think a drink stop was in order. Well, you'd be wrong and there has been no explanation except for the weather and chocolate. I made the plan so I can change it anyway like I do. And in any case people were keen to get to the circle and all the SPECIAL 20TH ANNIVERSARY HALL OF FAME AWARDS conjured from the febrile and fertile imaginaria of successive GeeEmms and RAs assisted by my near total recall I am one of few in the word with such brainpower, several red wines and a trawl of the detritus of Trash reports although they are a bit like fake news and no one reads them I don't. (There is no extant record of the Hairs being punished for the absence of a drink stop nor any trail-based infringements. I have asked for an explanation, but Hemoroyd is too busy on MEGA stuff and keeping his Cadillac going.)

So, who got what? I have decided that these AWARDS will be given:

Infallible for 'Trying to Pop Pugwash's Clogs' (Run 78, Nov 2012) a historical event of significance

Two Fathers for 'Trying to Tempt Gravity' (even before Artemis)

Haemorrhoid for 'Losing the Most Hounds on a Single Run' (Run 154) he is a world record beater at this pity he is not setting a run in Iran

Too Keen For 'Being a Front Running Bastard' (Serial Offender)

Gobbles for 'More Leeches Than a Young Liberals Convention' (Run 235) I think that's something like an Australian version of the record number of young people who flooded out in my historical win.

CountHerFeet for 'Failing to Administer Gobbles Tick Medication in a Timely Manner' but fortunately he survived in spite of her.

Special Achievements:

Winnie: Anti Peripatetic Medal for Drink Stop Detection and Perambulation Evasion. (Shared Award with Energiser) Winnie is a great girl and one of my most diligent fans of many millions and likes gin so does Energiser and she's no bunny.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.
