run was set, there was a drink stop, the Hash Cash was collected the bucket was chilled and other normal stuff happened.

17 hardy souls and some hashers turned up for the start. Crème Brulee who has not been seen for a while and brung her aunt Just Sheila, who also glories in being a sibling of Captain Pugwash who wasn't there. Nor was Sticky Date. From time to time, we also spotted Camouflage new to MBH3 and visiting from the Wagga Wagga H3.

There was a bit of chalk talk from FishFinger the hair who advised that the run was an A to B along part of the scenic, picturesque and as it turned out well marked Munjip Trail a creation of the fertile imagination of Relaxed and fast becoming a favoured site for the MBH3. (Only about 8km to go.) A drink stop was promised. Pop Tart was appointed run rapporteur.

Our older octogenarian Cowboy was present to check things out and volunteered to be useful by taking Meat n Easy to the start point at Mosquito Bay. The rest got there in other transportation. Then they were orf to the first ladder

Closely observed by some observant locals

There was a bit of on upping as the pack strung out with Fishfinger leading the way from Rooster Booster and Camo along the very pictureskew girt bits and thoughtfully marked vistas.

Two's Your Daddy and Just Janine (V) were hoofing it out slightly ahead of Likes Green Shit with almost no-one taking advantage of the first water stop

Because they were waiting for the real drink stop to emerge with real beer (or Coopers) and staring out at the pictureskew Pretty Bay

Before heading off to the last lap onto Maccas beach past the whale tale on which nobody clumb.

While others took a moment to watch the intrepid surfers through not quite rose coloured glasses.

Then it was back to the circle venue where Dangles reflected on the vicissitudes of life

Before the hair checked a match at the firepit

And the pack got ready for the circle while scoffing heated spring rolls and stuff.

There was a circle. Virgins Camo, Just Sheila and Just Janine were appropriately welcomed along the with returnees Two's Yer Daddy? and Crème Brulee. Pop Tart awarded an insane 10 outta 10 for the trail. The dog ate the charges list. Doggy Bag was beer wench and Just Jude arrived in the nicotine to bring the pizzas which went down well with the beer, wine and fire. Then it was darker and then everyone eventually drifted home. Another one run and done.
